L'Anse Creuse Students Give Back to Community

CHESTERFIELD TWP, Mich. – On Tuesday, December 12, Joseph M. Carkenord Elementary students participated in community outreach to spread holiday cheer. Only about an hour after arriving to school, students were back in busses and traveling to different places in the community, including Selfridge Air National Guard Base, the Chesterfield Police Department and Parks and Recreation, and several senior living communities.

While out in the community, students handed out handmade holiday cards, sang carols, and spent time with community members.

HARRISON TWP, Mich. – On November 29, students at Middle School – Central worked on holiday-themed cards to send out to the community. The cards were created thanks to the Lancer Villages and Houses program, which was established to foster stronger relationships within the classroom and build up the school community as a whole.

Classes made cards for ill children, “Thinking of You” cards for a local nursing home, and a “Today is a Good Day” collaborative poster for veterans.

HARRISON TWP, Mich. – During the month of December, the L'Anse Creuse High School community worked together to provide holiday gift baskets for their families in need. In total, the community put together 61 baskets to help more than 90 children in the community, with each basket containing a Christmas card with $100 grocery gift cards, a stocking with goodies for each child, a warm blanket, winter gear and several small gifts for each of the families' children.

On top of student, staff and community donations, the Lancer Student Council and Athletic Boosters donated $1000 each, and the Lancer Band and Choir collected for the gift baskets at their holiday concerts.
