Infoplease: Homework Center

https://www.infoplease.com/homework-help/homework

From education company Pearson, this site is a great spot for looking up facts and background information. It's organized by subject (history, language arts, math) or skill (research, studying), and also has quizzes and slideshows. For instance, drill down into the social studies section to read up on national anthems and the U.S. Constitution, or take a quiz on First Ladies or the Bill of Rights. The Fact Monster section—for younger kids—offers information, games, and quizzes.

Math Help

Math help, quizzes, practices, fun facts, puzzles, videos and games to make numbers, counting, fractions, statistics, and the rest of it enjoyable. The companion site, Interactive Zone, lets kids create worksheets with auto-scoring, play games, or do simulations for more practice.

Webmath

http://www.webmath.com/index.html

Webmath is a math-help web site that generates answers to specific math questions and problems, as entered by a user, at any particular moment. The math answers are generated and displayed real-time, at the moment a web user types in their math problem and clicks "solve." In addition to the answers, Webmath also shows the student how to arrive at the answer.

Grammar Girl

https://www.quickanddirtytips.com/grammar-girl/

Stumped about how to explain proper usage for "nor" versus "or"? Get help from this site, which contains full explanations on grammar, word choice, punctuation, or style. Answers are explained succinctly and efficiently—often via audio. This site also provides information to improve writing skills.
